SPREADING THE LIGHT

Members of the Young Men's Democratic Club at Work.

MEET IN PARROT PRECINCT

Organization of a New Club—Speeches Made By Eloquent Orators—All in Running Order.

BUTTE, Aug. 30.—Democracy's gospel is spreading and its light is made to shine everywhere by faithful missionaries who are sowing the seed for a host of votes. To-night several members of the Young Men's Democratic club visited Parrot precinct and when they left the results of their visit manifested themselves in the organization of a very vigorous democratic club which promises to do much good for the cause in which it has enlisted. A meeting was held in the Braund house, the dining room of which has been tendered by the landlord as a place in which to start the new movement. E. O. Dugan, president of the Young Men's Democratic club, called the meeting to order. He said that he and the other members of the club were there to assist in organizing a club similar to the one with which they were identified, and as the voters of the precinct had already been addressed by republican and populist speakers they probably would like to hear something from the democrats.

J. M. Quinn then proceeded to make a few remarks. He paid his respects to General Sheridan, the republican speaker who recently made an address here, and followed up his remarks by referring to the tariff and exposing the sophistry of republican argument that high tariff meant high wages. The tariff, he said, had nothing whatever to do with wages, as was instanced by the fact that in the East, where protected industries existed, wages without number, were not high, but they were in the West, and especially in Montana, Colorado and others of the Rocky mountain states. The law of supply and demand governed the wage market the same as it governed every other market. In the United States, where there are only 14 people to the square mile, it was reasonable to suppose wages would be higher than in England, where there were 320 people to the same amount of territory. For the same reason wages were better in the sparsely settled districts of the West than in the overcrowded East. For 20 years the republican party had gone on to victory on its specious arguments on the tariff, but it had scored its last triumph.

The silver question was next touched on and Mr. Quinn showed how republican legislation had caused a decline in the value of the white metal and made more commodity of it where formerly it had held place with gold and side by side with that metal, had been a legal tender. A republican congress had passed the law reducing the value of silver, and a republican administration the price of silver had gone lower than ever before in the history of the nation. The democratic party had always been the friend of silver and to that party the people would have to look to see if restored to its rightful place. Had it not been for the fact that this is a presidential year, a democratic congress would have passed a free coinage bill, but the threat that New York would be lost were such a bill passed had caused the friends of free coinage to vote against it. The solid South, which was at all times a staunch friend of free coinage, was also devoted to democracy, and the democratic would rather live on bread and water for 20 years than to admit that would cause them to lose a president.

If Cleveland was elected this fall, said Mr. Quinn, notwithstanding his opposing his free coinage, a silver bill would be passed inside of six months and he would sign it because it was the wish of his party, and like every good democrat he would lay aside personal prejudices and desires and submit to the will of the majority.

At the conclusion of Mr. Quinn's speech the task of organizing a club was begun in real earnest. It was thought best to effect only a temporary organization and defer permanent organization until the next meeting. Officers were elected as follows: President, J. B. Gray; vice president, Thomas Harrison; secretary, Alex. Kittery; treasurer, John Bradley; executive committee, J. C. Bailey, John McNulty and George Wiley.

FUN FOR THE WHEELMEN.

Preparing for the State Tournament to be Held in This City.

BUTTE, Aug. 31.—An event which is already attracting great interest among Montana bicyclists, is the state meeting of the league of American Wheelmen, which will come off here Sunday, Sept. 18, under the auspices of the Butte Bicycle club. The medals to be offered in the different events, 16 in number, were ordered today by J. D. Leys, the jeweler, and will cost in the neighborhood of $100. The medal which goes to the winner of the five-mile open race, is to cost $250, and will be the most valuable trophy ever offered at any bicycle meeting in the North. West. William Swendeman of Helena now holds the state championship, but a strong effort will be made to wrest away from him at this tournament. W. H. Talbot, William Leys and Charles Pierce of the Butte team are training specially for this event, and there will also be other fast riders from different parts of the state. The club has decided to make this the most successful tournament ever held in the state, and the day will be one of fine sport. In addition to the regular entries, Kilpatrick, the base ball league umpire, will give an exhibition of trick and fancy one-legged riding.

THE TURNERS.

Prizes Captured By Butte Citizens at Helena.

BUTTE, Aug. 30.—The Butte Turners returned this afternoon from the state tournament at Helena which closed last night with a grand ball. They report having had a good time and were successful in carrying off many of the best prizes. The record of prizes was as follows: Paul Fischer of Butte, first; Henry Steinmetz of Helena, second; Henry Gunther of Butte, third; Max Buttger of Butte, fourth; Julius Mahlen of Helena, fifth; Martin Muller of Great Falls, sixth; August Lehman of Great Falls, seventh; Adolph H. Weiss of Great Falls, eighth. The prizes consisted of diplomas and were awarded for general turning on the horizontal bar, parallel bars, wooden horse, dumb bell, lifting, rope climbing, jumping and pole vaulting. Henry Gunther made 17 feet in the running jump and seven feet four inches in the pole vault. Charles Oppel made 28 feet eight inches in the rope climbing. A company from the Helena Turn Verein captured first prize in the drilling, military figures and wand exercises. The diplomas were presented by a committee of young ladies at the ball at Turner hall last night. It was decided to hold the next state meeting at Great Falls.

Watches at cost, 30 days. Leys, the Jeweler, Owsley block.

IN A TIGHT PLACE.

A Big Butte Business House Forced to Sell Out.

For a good many reasons the big grocery and house furnishing firm of William Weinstein & Co., on West Granite street, is being forced to dispose of their stock in this city and close up their business here. One reason is that their time and energy is required exclusively in their principal store, and a second and the best reason is that as soon as cold weather sets in it will be impossible to remain in the quarters they now occupy. Hence, the necessity of hurrying their sales. They have positively concluded not to take any part of their still large stock away with them, but intend to dispose of it here, and cut even their present low prices in two. It is no longer a matter of choice with them, but one of compulsion. They are in a tight place and must get out some way. Instead of instituting auction sales, as had once been contemplated, Weinstein & Co. have decided, in order to wind up their Butte business, to hold sales daily at which any one can purchase at practically his own prices, thus securing actual auction bargains. Merchants themselves are invited to take advantage of the sales, and hotel keepers, house furnishing people, housekeepers, and everybody in need of groceries, china, ware, tinware, glassware, and a thousand and one things of daily need by every one, can do better than patronize Weinstein's daily sales. No such bargains could be had even in wholesale purchases. As cold weather will set in very shortly, and the stock is being reduced daily, the sales can not last very long.

IN WALKERVILLE.

Notes of Interest from Butte's Lively Suburb.

WALKERVILLE, Aug. 31.—Judge Herbert received word yesterday of the death at Wilkesbarre, Pa., of a nephew, who was named after him, Evan Herbert Williams. The man was 21 years of age, and was killed by a fall of coal in one of the mines. The affair is made doubly sad from the fact that his father was killed in the same mine in exactly the same way just six years ago. The young man was the support of his widowed mother, who is left with five small children.

W. H. Gehrmann, J. B. Trevarthen, M. Mitchell, D. C. Rhaeklen and Richard Ople left this evening for Anaconda to conclude arrangements for the annual picnic of Colfax lodge No. 20, I. O. O. F., at Deer Lodge on Sept. 15.

Warrants are out for the arrest of the young men who engaged in a fight in a lively stable here on Saturday night. The scrap was caused through two young fellows loving the same girl, but this fact will not lessen their punishment if they are caught.

Tom Lane, charged with attempting to shoot Deputy Sheriff Richards, will be tried before Judge Herbert at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

THE BAKERS' STRIKE.

Mr. Harris of the American Bakery Takes Back His Old Hands.

BUTTE, Aug. 30.—The bakers' strike is still on, notwithstanding the report which gained currency to-day to the effect that a compromise had been effected. There is only one instance in which there has been anything like a compromise. Mr. Harris of the American bakery being old and in an enfeebled condition, found that he would have to shut up shop if he were compelled to do his own work and in order to protect himself the other bakers agreed to let him put his men back to work temporarily and to accede to their demands until the committee to be appointed by the Trades and Labor assembly and the democratic would rather live on bread and water for 20 years than to admit that would cause them to lose a president.

HOPE FOR STICKNEY.

His Anti-Smoke Scheme Will Be Given a Fair Trial.

BUTTE, Aug. 30.—C. W. Stickney will now have an opportunity to put into operation his sulphur smoke annihilator. The smoke committee met in the private office of W. A. Clark this afternoon, after thoroughly investigating Mr. Stickney's method and invention decided to give it a fair trial and therefore will recommend to the capital executive committee that a sufficient sum from the campaign fund be appropriated to Mr. Stickney to have one of his plants built and put in operation. The committee will meet on Wednesday night to take final action. Mr. Stickney has promised that if the money is raised he will have his scheme in operation inside of two months and the usual winter season smoke will be known no more in Butte.

"Hoss and Hoss."

BUTTE, Aug. 30.—On Thursday evening at Maguire's the much-talked-of farce comedy, "Hoss and Hoss" will be presented. This play has had an impartial trial, and the verdicts rendered are, "A success in every sense of the word," in all prominent cities in this country. The testimony against Messrs. Charlie Reed and Willie Collier, the co-authors, is direct and conclusive. They have not only manufactured and uttered a farce comedy, but have conspired with divers others to circulate it. The performance of this farce-comedy, which bears the familiar but not pretty name of "Hoss and Hoss," is practically all the defense offered. The change is a serious one, especially this season, when authors and actors to the number of some 800 at least, are undermining the public sanity with farce comedies. But the defense—namely, the performance of "Hoss and Hoss"—is so good that any jury in the land, with average generosity, will acquit them of any crime, unless, indeed, it should be the crime of making an audience laugh without more than stopping for breath from the laughter. "Hoss and Hoss" is not at all hard to classify; it is a farce-comedy, but without as much plot as would cover a dime.

HANDY WITH THE PEN.

And He May Go to the Penitentiary for Forgery.

BUTTE, Aug. 30.—A man giving his name as J. C. Jones was arrested this afternoon by Officer Cantwell for passing a forged check. Jones appears to be a stranger in the city and claims to have come from Idaho a few days ago. Yesterday afternoon he called at a grocery store in Lower Main street and asked for three or four blank checks on the First National bank. He told the storekeeper that he was ranching in Idaho and wanted the checks so that he could draw some money from the bank to enable him to settle some business affairs. Last night he occupied a room in the Silver Bow lodging house and this morning tendered in payment for his lodging a check for $25, made payable to himself. The check was on the First National bank and bore the signature of Parsons, Winters & Boardman. Jones claimed to have been working for the firm in Idaho, where they have a contract for building a ditch and said the check was for part of his wages. He said he did not need all the money and asked Welch, the proprietor of the lodging house, to give him $10 and he would call later in the day and get the rest. Welch gave him the $10 and subsequently presented the check at the bank and was told that it was a forgery. Welch then hunted William Winters of the firm of Winters & Parsons, the contractors, who confirmed the bank's statement and also said that Boardman, who is interested with the firm in their Idaho contract, never appeared on any checks they gave out. Welch next examined the check closely and discovered that it was dated yesterday, although Jones claimed to have received it several days ago, and to give the check the appearance of having been carried in the pocket for some time he had folded and creased it until it was almost worn through. Welch notified the police and Officer Cantwell began a search for the forger which continued until late this afternoon when he obtained a trace of the check in a saloon in East Park street, and a few minutes afterward found him seated in a barn in the rear of the saloon. When Jones was arrested and searched at the jail another forged check for $25 was found on his person.

You have listened to something remarkable, if you have ever heard anybody say: "I like to take medicine. It comes under the head of necessities, but not of luxuries. It may be requisite, but it is not enjoyable. It is avoided, if it can be; if it can't be, it is endured with a grimace. Don't subject yourself to the additional aggravation of taking medicine about which there is the least degree of uncertainty.
